

The University is a Machine in the Network of Capitalism & Empire.

Does anyone still pretend that earning a degree is anything other than job training? Can professors still hide that their knowledge is commodified? Is it not clear that the university is the lap-dog of the state?

There is No Crisis. It is all Business as Usual.

We cry for the loss of a dream that never was. The university was never ours. After shaking off the unessential it will rise from the grave merely mutated and continue to serve its master.

The University Cannot be Saved.

Stop occupying dead space.
Our demands merely echo
through the empty corridors.
There is nothing here for us to take-back or transform,
except their administration of an infertile garden.

Defect to the Invisible University!

Abandon the university!
Join the university! We are building a new community in the shell of the old: an universitas magistrorum et scholarium, a community of teachers and scholars.
